1) Purpose
The purpose of this guide is to standardize Treasury-wide policies and procedures related to the preparation, processing, coordination, execution, administration, and close-out of Interagency Agreements (IAAs). This guide establishes Treasury-wide policy and procedures for IAAs.

2) Scope
The guide applies to personnel in the Department of the Treasury and Treasury Bureaus.

3) Authorities
Many Treasury IAAs are issued under the terms of the Economy Act (31 U.S.C. 1535 & 1536), as implemented by the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) Subpart 17.5 and the Department of Treasury Acquisition Procedures (DTAP) Subpart 1017.5. The Economy Act only applies when more specific statutory authority does not exist. See section 12 entitled “Statutory Authorities for Interagency Agreements” for a list of commonly referenced authorities.

4) References

5) Definitions
Frequently used terms are defined as follows for purposes of this guide:

a) Assisted Acquisition: As defined in FAR 2.101, assisted acquisition is a type of interagency acquisition where a servicing agency performs acquisition activities on a requesting agency’s behalf, such as awarding and administering a contract, task order, or delivery order. Assisted acquisition is a subset of interagency agreements entered into for the primary purpose of obtaining services or products from contractors. Agreements for Assisted Acquisition are also referred to as Acquisition Assistance IAAs.

b) Determination and Findings (D&F): As defined in FAR 1.701, Determination and Findings are a structured form of written approval by an authorized official that is required by statute or regulation as a prerequisite to taking certain contract actions.

c) General Terms and Conditions (GT&C): The GT&C sets the relationship between the trading partners. It identifies the agencies entering into the agreement, the authority permitting the agreement, the agreement action, period, and type.

d) Interagency Agreement (IAA): A written agreement entered into between two Federal agencies, or major organizational units within an agency, which specifies the goods to be furnished or tasks to be accomplished by one agency (the servicing agency) in support of the other (the requesting agency).

e) Intra-governmental Payment and Collection (IPAC): The system used by most Federal agencies for interagency disbursements and funds transfers. May also be used to describe the process for transferring funding pursuant to IAAs.

f) Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) / Memorandum of Understanding (MOU): MOU/MOAs are agreements between agencies or bureaus that do not involve payment or transfer of funding. If the agreement involves funding, an IAA must be executed.

g) Obligation authority

  i) Contracting Officer. Contracting officers have authority to enter into, administer, or terminate contracts and make related determinations and findings. This authority flows from the head of the agency through the Senior Procurement Executive, Head of Contracting Activity, and Bureau Chief Procurement Officer. Contracting officers receive explicit instructions in writing regarding the limits of their authority.

  ii) Program Officer. Program officer as used in this guide refers to an individual delegated authority to obligate funding on non-contractual instruments on behalf of the agency. Program officer authority flows from the head of the agency through the chief financial officer or other organizational element with explicit obligation authority.

h) Order (under an IAA). An order under an IAA creates a fiscal obligation between agencies or bureaus and delineates specific product and/or service requirements, funding information for both trading partners, and authorized signatures to obligate the funding.

i) Requesting Agency. The agency (or major organizational unit within an agency) that requests goods or services from another agency or unit through an interagency agreement.

j) Servicing Agency. The agency (or major organizational unit within an agency) that provides goods or services with agency resources or contracts for the service on behalf of the requesting agency or unit under the terms and conditions of an interagency agreement.

6) Interagency Agreement Forms
Treasury uses the Government-Wide Accounting (GWA) form available at: http://www.fms.treas.gov/finstandard/forms.html for agreements between Treasury and other Government agencies. The GWS consists of the IAA General Terms and Conditions (GT&C) form 7600A and the IAA Order from 7600B. Treasury will encourage other agencies to adopt the common GWA form to the maximum extent practicable, but may use other agencies’ formats for expediency provided that the format contains all of the required GWA elements. For assisted acquisition agreements between Treasury Bureaus (using other Bureau’s contracts), Treasury may use the Treasury Intradepartmental Purchase Request (TIPR) form (Appendix C) in lieu of the GWA form. The TIPR is maintained on the Treasury Procurement Policy and regulations site at http://www.treasury.gov/about/organizational-structure/offices/Mgt/Pages/ProcurementPolicy-Regulations.aspx.

7) Types of Interagency Agreements

The term IAA can encompass agreements between Treasury and other agencies or between Treasury Bureaus for products or services. The products or services can be furnished by the other agency’s federal employees or contractors. Acquisition assistance IAAs involve products or services provided by contractors as a principal purpose of the IAA. Non-acquisition assistance IAAs involve the provision of products or services by the servicing agency where contractor support is incidental to the provision of goods or services.

As an example of an acquisition assistance IAA, a program manager requires consulting services to support strategic planning. The Department of Interior (DOI) has a contract for relevant consulting services. The program manager prepares an IAA for DOI to place an order for a consultant to support the program. The contracted services are the principal purpose of the IAA, therefore the approval of the requesting agency’s contracting office is required prior to issuing the IAA.

Examples of IAAs for assisted acquisition requiring involvement of the requesting agency CO and execution of a D&F include:

a) Engagement of the OPM’s procurement support services to award a contract for training services

b) Engagement of the General Services Administration (GSA) Office of Assisted Acquisition Services to perform acquisition-related activities on your behalf

c) Engagement of the Department of the Interior's Interior Business Center (IBC) Acquisition Services Directorate for support with Acquisition planning, solicitation, negotiation, contract award, administration, and/or closeout

As an example of non-acquisition assistance, agencies are directed by statute to use Office of Personnel Management (OPM) to obtain security clearance investigations on personnel. In performing this function, OPM obtains contractor support. The agency is not asking OPM to provide the contract, but to provide the service. The contract is incidental to OPM providing the statutorily mandated service, and therefore the approval or non-approval by a requesting agency CO is not required.

Examples of IAAs for governmental services not requiring involvement of the requesting agency’s CO or execution of a D&F
a) Reimbursement for salaries of temporarily detailed employees

b) Reimbursement to the State Department for payments made to support Treasury employees working in foreign countries

c) Rent on GSA owned or leased buildings

d) Reimbursement for mileage & repairs of leased GSA vehicles

e) Reimbursable Work Authorizations for contractor performed building renovations and services requested through the GSA

f) Postage remittance to the US Postal Service

g) Non-expenditure transfer or similar congressionally directed or statutorily permitted movement of funds between agencies or bureaus

h) Reimbursement for OPM Security Clearance Investigation

i) Ordering of Training services using SF-182

j) Reimbursement for Government Accountability Office (GAO) pursuant to 31 U.S.C.§3521 or similar statutorily directed audit or review.

8) Obligation authority
A Contracting Officer warrant is required to obligate funding on contracts. IAAs are not contracts, and therefore do not require CO signature. IAAs must be signed by an individual authorized through Treasury Order or Directive or Bureau implementing policy to obligate funding on behalf of the department or bureau organizational element. The obligation must be properly recorded in the Bureau’s accounting system. Some Bureau policies may require the involvement of procurement staff and/or the entry of the IAA into the contracting system to ensure proper recording of the obligation. The following Treasury IAAs are generally prepared and funds obligated without involvement of the procurement office:

a) Government Printing Office (GPO): Treasury Bureau Chief Procurement Officers (BCPOs) may delegate obligating authority to staff responsible for printing and graphics for use of Form SF-1. Authority for use of GPO is contained in 44 USC 501 and 502 and in FAR 8.8. A separate D&F is not required for GPO orders.

c) Intergovernmental Personnel Agreements (IPAs) are Reimbursable or non-reimbursable agreements under the authority of 5 CFR 334 that may be entered into with state and local governments, institutions of higher education, and Indian tribal governments. IPA assignments may be intermittent, part-time, or full-time. A separate D&F is not required for IPAs. Consult with your Chief Human Capital Office on the form and execution of IPAs.

d) Training: In certain circumstances, the SF-182 may be used to document arrangements to receive training from another agency on a reimbursable basis. Specifically, Bureaus may delegate obligation authority to staff responsible for training and professional development pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 4104 and 4105 for use of the SF-182 to reimburse other agencies for training provided that:

i) the training cost of a single training event, program, or instructional service does not exceed the simplified acquisition threshold (currently $150,000);

ii) the cost is of a fixed nature, i.e., price per student or price per course, program, or service; and

iii) the program, course, or instructional service is off-the-shelf and no modification or development resulting in increased cost to the Government is needed to meet Treasury’s needs.

9) Financial Aspects of IAAs

a) Effect of IAA
An IAA represents an obligation in the requesting agency’s financial system.

b) Time of agreement
A completed IAA is essential; however, the lack of a written agreement before performance may not necessarily preclude reimbursement. For example, reimbursement can still be made if (1) an IAA had been in effect for several prior years, and (2) the facts showed that the agencies intended to continue the IAA for the year in question. A written agreement is required to record the obligation and make payment. However, foregoing reimbursement may itself raise appropriations law issues. For this reason, legal counsel should be consulted if it is discovered that services have been accepted from another agency without an IAA in place. See
c) Option Years
IAAs may include option years. Ensure the performance work statement and Economy Act D&F (if required) cover all planned option years. Funding for each option year must be available and appropriate for obligation at the time the option is exercised.

d) Types of Payment

i) Advance payment
A requesting agency obligates funding at the time of the execution of the IAA. The advance pay scenario may be used in the case of assisted acquisition to cover the full amount of the anticipated contract obligation where the servicing agency requires the funds on hand in its financial system prior to obligation. Advances should be limited in usage and requested only when a business need exists for an advance in order for the seller to execute an order. The servicing agency will process an IPAC transaction to transfer funds prior to entering into a contract obligation. Advance payment will often be based on estimates, which will require subsequent adjustments up or down when the actual costs are known. Reports of actual expenses are forwarded to the Contracting Officer’s Representative (COR)/Point of Contact (POC) for approval, then posted in the financial system to draw down the advance. Any excess should be promptly returned to the requesting agency. Retention of the excess amount by the servicing agency is an improper augmentation of funds.

ii) Reimbursement
Funds are obligated in the requesting agency’s financial system when the IAA is executed. Reimbursement is made after expenses are incurred. IPAC transactions generally occur following delivery of products or services or on preset intervals (e.g. monthly, quarterly, and annually).

iii) Direct Cite
Under a “direct cite” interagency agreement scenario, the servicing agency incorporates the requesting agency’s accounting information and payment instructions into the servicing agency’s contract. The contractor submits invoices to and receives payment from the requesting agency. The requesting agency is granting the servicing agency authority to obligate requesting agency funds. The IAA must explicitly authorize the servicing agency to obligate funds requesting agency funds and provide for appropriate recordation.

e) Costs

i) Costs consist of direct costs (expenditures incurred by the servicing agency which are specifically identifiable and attributable to performing the service) and indirect and/or overhead costs. Overhead or other indirect costs may be charged in the form of a fee by the servicing agency.

ii) If an IAA is based on estimated costs, when final costs are known, and the costs are less than the amount of the agreement, the agreement must be promptly adjusted downward and the remainder de-obligated in the financial system of the requesting agency.

iii) Where costs are more than the amount of the agreement, the agreement must be adjusted upward and the obligation increased in the financial system of the requesting agency (if sufficient funds are not available, performance must be curtailed). This should be accomplished prior to the end of the period of availability of the appropriation financing the agreement.

f) Economy Act IAA

FAR 17.502 differentiates between services performed in-house or by awarding a contract. If the servicing agency uses its own resources and personnel to perform, work must cease and unused funds must be de-obligated at the end of the period of availability of the funds (usually, at the end of the fiscal year). On the other hand, if the servicing agency awards an otherwise proper contract or task order by the end of the period of the availability of the funds, those funds are considered obligated and performance may continue. The de-obligation requirement of 31 U.S.C. Section 1535(d) does not apply where the appropriation originally obligated is a no-year appropriation.

g) Payments

i) Funds are most commonly collected from the requesting agency using the IPAC system. This allows the servicing agency to withdraw funds from the requesting agency using a unique Agency Location Code. The requesting agency’s IAA number, accounting codes, related line items, and a detailed explanation of the expenses incurred should be cited on the agreement and the IPAC collection.

ii) The IPAC collection is reviewed and approved by the COR/POC. This action verifies that the goods or services were received and accepted by the requesting agency. Adjustments or rejections of IPAC collections should be completed within 90 days.

iii) Regular invoices may be created and routed in accordance with instructions in the IAA. Payment may be made through IPAC.

iv) Payments (costs) should be expensed against the obligation on the requesting agency’s financial records.

v) Payments are not made until after the IAA is signed by both parties.
10) IAA Documentation requirements

a) Economy Act agreements for Assisted Acquisition

Documentation requirements for an assisted acquisition under the Economy Act should include a

i) requisition (funding document)

ii) IAA request form or other bureau-required documentation containing the information necessary for the creation of the agreement, with signatures indicating program office approval, and including a financial office funds certification, and

iii) draft Determination and Findings (D&F).

Requests should be accompanied by a copy of the acquisition package to be submitted to the servicing agency, including a(n)

iv) Acquisition plan

v) Statement of work or other description of the requirement

vi) Period of performance, including any options years

vii) Market research identifying potential suppliers or service providers viii) Independent cost estimate (including any option years)

Oversight of contractor performance will generally be the responsibility of the program office through a delegation of authority to act as Contracting Officer Representative (COR). The COR is responsible for maintaining documentation for any required deliverables, technical reports, cost/expense reports, and notices of acceptance or rejection.

b) Economy Act agreements for other than assisted acquisitions

Documentation requirements for IAAs entered into pursuant to the Economy Act for other than assisted acquisition, specifically interagency reimbursable work performed by federal employees (other than acquisition assistance) or interagency activities where contracting is incidental to the purpose of the transaction, include:

i) Documentation certifying that funding is available;

ii) The agency or unit to fill the order is able to provide or get by contract the ordered goods or service; and

iii) A determination by the head of the ordering agency or unit that ordered goods or services cannot be provided by contract as conveniently or cheaply by a commercial enterprise and that the order is in the best interest of the United States Government.

c) Non-Economy Act agreements

Documentation requirements for IAAs entered into pursuant to an authority other than the Economy Act should adhere to the statutory and regulatory requirements
DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY INTERAGENCY AGREEMENT GUIDE

11) Reviews and Approvals

Signature levels for all of the approvals should be at the lowest levels possible in the organization, commensurate with complexity, importance, policy sensitivity, dollar value, or other statutory requirement.

a) The Economy Act as codified in FAR 17.503 requires that a requesting agency CO execute a D&F for Economy Act IAAs for acquisition assistance. DTAP 1017.503(c) requires Senior Procurement Executive (SPE) approval of D&Fs where the servicing agency is not subject to the FAR. A D&F is not required for reimbursable work performed by federal employees (other than acquisition assistance) or interagency activities where contracting is incidental to the purpose of the transaction. However, for non-assisted acquisition Economy Act IAAs, the head of the ordering agency or unit decides that the order is in the best interest of the United States Government and that ordered goods or services cannot be provided by contract as conveniently or cheaply by a commercial enterprise.

b) Legal Review
Legal review is required for all Treasury IAAs in excess of $10 million. Consult bureau policies for local guidance on legal review. The responsible official should request legal advice with respect to any IAA whenever there is a question as to compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

c) Senior Procurement Executive (SPE) Review
In accordance with DTAP 1017.502-2(c), the SPE must approve D&F for Acquisition Assistance where the servicing agency is not subject to the FAR or is outside of the Department of Treasury.

12) Roles and Responsibilities

a) Contracting Officer Representative (COR) or requesting office Point of Contact (POC)

i) Consult the Bureau Procurement Office and Chief Financial Officer for Bureau policies and procedures, requirements, sample forms, etc.

ii) Prepare the IAA’s General Terms and Conditions (GT&C) identifying the agencies entering into the agreement, the authority permitting the agreement, and the agreement action, period, and type. Each IAA must include one GT&C.

iii) Prepare a Performance Work Statement (if required)
iv) Draft the Determination and Findings (D&F) for Economy Act IAAs for Acquisition Assistance, addressing option periods if included; see Appendix A for a sample D&F. FAR 17.503 requires that a Requesting Agency Contracting Officer execute a D&F for Economy Act IAAs requiring acquisition assistance from another agency.

v) Prepare the requisition and/or IAA form in accordance with Bureau procedures

vi) Submit all documents to the Bureau procurement office or other official authorized to obligate the Treasury

vii) Maintain COR certification, if required. COR certification is required if the IAA involves monitoring of contractor performance, receipt, and acceptance of contractor furnished goods or services.

viii) Monitor performance of servicing agency and/or contractor ix) Monitor reimbursements and funding

x) Report performance/compliance issues and disputes over IAA terms and conditions to the CO or other program official authorized to obligate funding on the agreement

xi) Accomplish receipt and acceptance in accordance with Bureau procedures

xii) Review and approve invoices and/or IPAC transactions xiii) Close-out the IAA in coordination with the CO or responsible program official xiv) Ensure IAA is extended via modification if performance is required beyond agreed performance period

xv) Ensure that all invoices have been paid or that all IPAC transactions have been fully documented and reconciled prior to close-out xvi) Ensure that all invoices have been paid or that all IPAC transactions have been fully documented and reconciled prior to close-out

b) Program Officer/Contracting Officer
   For purposes of this section, a Program Officer is an individual with delegated authority to obligate funds on interagency agreements on behalf of the Bureau.

i) Prepare an acquisition plan and required procurement documents for IAAs for assisted acquisition.
ii) Ensure the IAA adheres to legal and policy requirements.

iii) Provide required IAA forms, requirements, and guidance to the Program Office

iv) Perform cost/price analysis for the IAA

v) Determine price reasonableness of the IAA vi) Contracting Officers complete and sign the D&F for Economy Act IAAs for Acquisition Assistance (as required - see Appendix A). Program Officers document the required bureau head determination for other than Acquisition Assistance

vii) Obtain any required review(s) and approval(s) viii) Obligate funding and award IAA ix) Identify a POC, or delegate a COR (if required) by issuing a delegation memo referencing the IAA number, as appropriate

x) Monitor performance of servicing agency and/or contractor

xi) Monitor performance of COR (if applicable)

xii) De-obligate un-liquidated funding balances, when necessary xiii) Resolve performance/compliance issues and disputes

xiv) Negotiate and sign modifications to the IAA xv) Perform required close-out functions upon notification by the COR/POC that the IAA has been satisfactorily completed and final payment has been made.

c) Finance Office/Accounting Operations

i) Commit and certify funds for obligation and availability for payment

ii) If an advance payment was made, post expenses in the financial system to draw down the advance

iii) Forward receipts of collections to the COR/POC for review and approval iv) Notify the POC/COR and Program Officer/CO when there is a problem, e.g., mismatched accounting codes, an invoice or IPAC transaction prior to obligation of the IAA, etc.

v) Monitor and take appropriate actions for IPAC transactions.

13) Statutory Authorities

The following are the most frequently used authorities cited by Treasury Bureaus, however the list is not all inclusive.
